New York, 1966 – In this exciting new take on Frederick Knott's suspenseful drama, a young blind woman is manipulated by ruthless con men as they search for a mysterious doll. Trapped in her basement apartment, she learns that her blindness can be her best defense if she can only Wait Until Dark. The original Broadway production starred Lee Remick and ran for 373 performances. The New York Post called the play “a first-rate shocker.”

Scenic design is by Madilyn Durrie, lighting design is by Tor Brown, costume design is by Marisa Galloway and Jennifer DeRosa, and sound design is by Tor Brown and Ken Rogers, Jr. Assistant director is Cameron Britton and stage managers are Noah Copfer and Victoria Anne Greenwood.

General admission tickets for Wait Until Dark are $20 with $10 tickets available for students with valid I.D. The regular performance schedule is Saturday at 8pm and Sunday at 7pm. Tickets may be purchased online at www.loftensemble.org or by phone at (818) 452-3153. The Loft Ensemble is now located at 11031 Camarillo Street in North Hollywood, 91602.
